THE PARANOID STORY

Originally released in May 2024, Paranoid quickly became a cult favourite among listeners, marking a defining moment in my journey as an artist and the launch of my first full musical project. A year later, I'm proud to celebrate that milestone with the official music video, premiering Friday, 31st October 2025. This release is both a reflection and a thank-you — — to everyone who supported my debut and connected with the emotion and storytelling behind Paranoid. Before I move on to future projects, this video serves as a final homage to where it all began. I'd love for Paranoid to be considered for radio play and wider exposure across new audiences, as I continue building momentum into the next chapter of my sound.
